If it is a girl, I recommend that you buy her some makeup, clothes or some bag. Girls usually paint their faces with makeup and like to feel comfortable and gorgeous. If it is a boy that you're buying presents for, perhaps buy him socks, and shoes or perfumes. Boys like to feel stylish, like a gentleman. (You use this word 'moreover' incorrectly.)

It was a good idea to buy some candy chocolate (??they??) will be glad. If they like traveling you can take them on a trip to the country of their desires. I can help you and you will find the present you are searching for. If you don't, you can write me a message or call me for more advice.

Notes: 50%. Ok, with all of your homework, you aren't improving enough. Please review my examples. Here is your essay introduction rewritten. By the way, if the written exercise is in handwriting, I would grade you also on all of the crossouts and side notes because it is clear that you're not clear on your ideas and grammar.

Also, the subjects you're choosing aren't going to likely be on the test, but that's not the main problem.

You need to set an outline first. You should practice writing in passive forms rather than using pronouns. In this article it could work if you set the right tone, but you don't, and it's awfully boring. Just sit back, relax, and enjoy your self in your acting career. Life is nothing more than a big stage.
