

The Roots and Consequences of Fascism, National Socialism, and Nazism

Fascism (a.k.a. National Socialism) and Nazism (in German it's called Nationalsozialismus) are one and the same and is no new concept; it was described in the Book of Genesis 11:1-9 as defined in the story of The Tower of Babel, which is said to have taken place about 4,200 years ago. Fascism is National Socialism (a.k.a. National Communism; it's in the name—National Socialism). “Democracy is the road to socialism.” – Karl Marx (1818 – 1883). “The goal of socialism is communism.” – (a quotation attributed to Vladimir Iljics Lenin [1870 – 1924], with no verifiable references, though it remains a valid argument). The system of fascism is nothing more than a rebranding of kings and queens, oligarchs, and a system of full dictatorship with a national appeal. The road to fascism is the same as the road to communism.

Upon finding out that there's a big question around the aforementioned quote being expressed by Lenin, I came across an excellent quote that sums up the premise that I've just alluded to:

In German: „Eine repräsentative Demokratie kann nicht bestehen, wenn ein großer Teil der Wähler auf der öffentlichen Gehaltsliste steht. Wenn die Parlamentarier sich nicht mehr als Treuhänder der Steuerzahler ansehen, sondern als Vertreter der Empfänger von Gehältern, Löhnen, Subventionen, Arbeitslosenunterstützung und anderen Wohltaten aus dem Steuertopf, dann ist es um die Demokratie geschehen.“ – Ludwig von Mises (1881 - 1973)

In English: “A representative Democracy cannot be sustained if a majority of its voters are being paid by the state. If the Parliamentarians do not think of themselves as the trustees of the taxpayers anymore, but instead as the deputies of the recipients of government wages, salaries, subsidies, unemployment benefits and other 'good deeds' from tax money, then Democracy has failed.” – Ludwig von Mises (1881 - 1973)

Magyarul: „A képviselői demokrácia nem tartható fenn, ha szavazóinak többségét az állam fizeti. Ha a parlamenti képviselők már nem az adófizetők vagyongazdálkodóinak gondolják magukat, helyette az állami pénzek, fizetések, támogatások, munkanélküli segélyek és egyéb adópénzből származó „jótétemények” kedvezményezettjeinek, akkor a demokrácia kudarcot vallott.” – Ludwig von Mises (1881 - 1973)

Are a majority of Hungarians getting government subsidies (March 2021)? Or for all of Europe, do the majority of citizens in Europe receive subsidies? I would say that that answer is “yes,” but to detail that assessment would be more of an assignment for the making of history writers, not for this short paper. To summarize this condition in an expression, Hungarians are bought off—and so are the citizens of Europe—they have sold themselves to slave owners. And the whole scheme is compilations of exercises in gaslighting that started in the planning decades ago.

For this presentation, I'll just use the word fascism, but the destiny between fascism and communism is the difference between the leaderships that implement them, and nothing more. Like in the story of The Children of Hameln \(The Pied Piper\), the rats, the little children, and more modernly, for today's sheep(le) (rats and children) who follow the corona virus propaganda scares, fearmongering, mask wearing, vaccine mongering sycophants who follow their masters' callings, subservience without a fuss has become a norm through a well executed planning of indoctrination, intimidation, and surveillance by sadistic perpetrators and predators. And The Emperor — still — Has New \(No\)

Clothes (also see: The Emperor Has No Clothes: In this video we explore our immune system in order to understand whether antibodies mean immunity, antibody tests are meaningful and much more!; Lyra Nara Inc.).

As for the corona virus stringent programs, for example, facts matter none; after nearly two years, the consensus attributed to the propaganda is that people aren't doing enough: the curfews, the masks, the plastic bags over the hands, the goggles for eye protection, the riding in cars alone with all of this gear worn, the sweating profusely when jogging and riding motorcycles with this attire, the vaccinations that have never ever been properly tested to be safe—at all, though they have been verifiably tested to not only not protect the vaccinated from disease—but do, in fact increase health risks by contorting natural immunity balances, the acceptance of new technologies, the GMOs (Genetically Modified Organisms) from Pfiser and God only knows where else, and the compliance and complacency to the closing down of the economy this way and that way over weeks and months—and soon it will be calendar years (We'll soon be going on 3 school years for children of all ages.).

So, instead of saying, “Let's remove these draconian regulations and try something else,” a doubling down to make the economy crash ever so much harder for a population already struggling to cope has become considered an acceptable nuisance. Now we are being told that you don't need to wear a mask or get a vaccination; but good luck using the public transportation system, going shopping, enjoying a meal in a restaurant, going to the movies, going on vacation and staying in a hotel (unless I have a business account—which makes perfect scientific sense), going anywhere where a public recreation is possible; no cost / benefit analysis, not an inkling of empirical evidence has been associated with these injunctions, though the dependence of a government gone wild and an economy in free-fall is more than prevalent.

This story isn't about the corona virus, but the program: the indoctrination, intimidation and surveillance; just call up any cemetery in Hungary and ask them if business is booming more than in any other recent years. The answer is “NO, it isn't”, but it is true that the hospitals are killing more than their fair share in a manner consistent with dictatorships in general—they are filthy and incompetent, to say the least! When all is said and done, it's obviously damn easy to create a fascist community!

The father of Fascism, however, is attributed to Giovanni Gentile (1875 – 1944). According to Giovanni Gentile, fascism is a form of socialism, indeed, its most workable form. Marx mobilizes people on the basis of class; fascism mobilizes people by appealing to their national identity, as well as their class. Fascists are socialists with a national identity.

“To submit to society is to submit to the state (In all matters).” – Mussolini

Like his philosophical mentor Karl Marx, Giovanni Gentile believed there are two “diametrically opposed” types of democracies:

1. Liberal democracy (the U.S.A.) is too centered on liberty and personal rights = too selfish.
2. True democracy = individuals willingly subordinate themselves to the state.

“All is in the state, and nothing human exists, or has value outside the state.” – Mussolini

In the meanings of the terms between fascism and communism, the differences only lie between the differences in leaderships who implement them. In technical terms, they are both politically extreme left, with 100 percent power for the government on that side, whereas on the extreme right is anarchy. During the Nazi era, the Nazis were always considered to be a left-wing group until they became too radical for so-called communists, which made them out to be a liability in the propaganda arena. Many Nazi and Soviet fighters switched sides for the sake of convenience, not for any ideological enlightening experiences or differences. The red in the Nazi flag was to appeal to communists. There were many Jews and Christians and other dissidents who were every bit as German as any other, yet Hitler had them exterminated. Yet, there were still many Jews in Hitler's higher echelon of command as well. The vast majority of Hungarians are descendents of the two camps, but it was seldom discussed: embarrassed elders or elders who wanted to perpetuate much the same in hopes that it could be done better this time? Well, FIDESZ, MSZMP, DK, Párbeszéd, MOMENTUM, and LMP are still the best we have?

You see, Hitler created enemies when it was convenient and expedient and created allies when it became politically or militarily advantageous to do it. It is said that Hitler himself wouldn't have been able to pass his own no-Jew heritage background test. There were many Catholics who supported Hitler and to this day a great number of priests who saluted the Nazis enthusiastically can be seen with a simple Google search.

Today's Pope, Pope Francis, is a full-blooded communist. So many of his comments and works are saturated in communist and Nazi idealisms. The Pope's birth name is Jorge Mario Bergoglio. He was born in Buenos Aires, Argentina, the very country where it is said Hitler escaped to (ref: GREY WOLF : THE ESCAPE OF ADOLF HITLER (2014) Full Movie) and where many Nazis did verifiably escape to. Argentina was at the time reigned by Juan and Eva Peron, two over enthusiastic ardent Nazi supporters that wholeheartedly welcomed Nazi officials; they hosted an estimated 12,000 refugees and visitors during and after the war. It was the only other country that officially had a Nazi Party. The Pope would have been a young lad entering puberty during that time. These associations and influences should not be taken lightly.

His predecessor was Joseph Aloisius Ratzinger, a German born near the Austrian border in 1927, and joined the Hitler Youth from age 14 and stayed a Nazi from 1941 – 1945. Although it is said that he resisted the membership and that his family despised the Nazis, there are contradictions to these stories that don't bid well and need some explaining. Ratzinger, for example, gave thanks to his math teacher who didn't make him do all the things required by the Nazis, stating that he was "a very understanding mathematics teacher. He himself was a Nazi but an honest man, who said to me..."—a nice Nazi believer, huh?—and the others under the teacher's wings?

Then there is Pope Pius XII (1876 – 1958). Hitler's Pope is a book that "explores the charge that he assisted in the legitimization of Adolf Hitler's Nazi regime in Germany, through the pursuit of a Reichskonkordat in 1933. The book is critical of Pius' conduct during the Second World War, arguing that he did not do enough, or speak out enough, against the Holocaust."

The fascist phenomenon is to attract national identity when it serves the national oligarch's purposes, but in so many ways it pits classes and groups against one another at the drop of a hat. Implementing National Socialism in the practical world is a farce and every bit as destructive as global communism.

For example, here in Hungary, we have the global communists (a.k.a. global socialists now because communism is supposedly illegal on the books, but the thoughts of a communist's mind are more difficult to bleed out). This is MSZP (Magyar Szocialista Párt), whose original name was MSZMP (A Magyar Szocialista Munkáspárt)—a country's worker's party is well-known to be a communist party, trying to appeal to the working class. The FIDESZ (Fiatal Demokraták Szövetsége) party in Hungary is, in fact, a Nazi party; the word democracy is in FIDESZ' name, but it really is the National Socialist Party (a.k.a. the Nazi party, technically speaking); everything from media to hospital care to schooling to food operations to social programs (CSOK, Gyes, Gyed, TAO, etc.) has been socialized and centralized to the state. There are even life-time tax exemptions for families who have 4 babies or more—well, fascism destroys hope, which destroys goals of family life and smiles, so those deficits must be compensated for in some way, no matter how maligned and misappropriated they become in reality—the propaganda works better than the real nature of it all. As a result, the Hungarian population has been decreasing its bloodline by 40-50 thousand a year, and the corona virus injunctions are exacerbating that trend, not the corona virus itself.

The alternative is to have a republic that limits the government's role in the people's lives. Good governance 101: Rights come from God. God given unalienable rights are three only: the right to life, liberty, and the right to pursue happiness without a government nanny state. Laws are made by man and should be designed to protect those three rights only. The Americans had such a system, but they forgot why they were special and what it took to maintain more freedoms.

People forget easily and in today's history lessons that are provided in schools the most fundamentals of lessons aren't provided, which is to say that for this lesson in particular:

1. History helps us develop a better understanding of the world.
2. History helps us to understand ourselves.
3. History helps us to learn to understand other people.
4. History teaches a working understanding of change.
5. History gives us the tools we need to be decent citizens.
6. History makes us better decision makers.
7. History helps us to develop a new level of appreciation for just about everything.

"Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it." - George Santayana

Fascism and Communism are entrenched in evil. Children wearing masks after 2 years tells me two things about the state of Hungary: how out of touch with reality the government is, how poor the health care system is, and how entrenched the school system is with its propaganda machine, far removed from providing students basic tools, such as to think, to use logical reasoning, deductive reasoning, and empirical evidence! Live free or die!

Notes: The vast majority of Hungarians in Hungary have relatives who were Soviet Union communists and sympathizers or Hitler's Nazis and sympathizers. Those of your ancestors who were communists and Nazis more often than not, raised you to think and behave in like manner, even though they seldom talked about those dark days. I deal with you often. You say that they were mostly forced to be a part of it, but the insurmountable evidence dispels that myth and illustrates that they were mostly anxious to participate in it. You show that you're still of the same making because you refuse civil discourse and empirical evidence reasoning.

You remain violent to pointed truths! You rip up my work and you try to have a shouting match with me and even a physical confrontation without using any good grace, but rather you use "just" perversions instead. You can't talk about any virus or the 'biological experimental agent' you for some reason call a vaccination. You might say that I'm a corona virus denier and brush off your obvious afflictions by rather caring to groom and maintain your sycophant status. You don't know how to avoid getting sick but you are already mentally deranged and don't understand your state.

In fact, you've made being physically sick, and coughing, and sneezing, and sniffing and even breathing fresh air illegal—you have become my self-absorbed supercilious nanny and I don't like it one bit. You can't talk about any political policies being implemented with any non-superficial knowledge of any of them. You've also made it illegal to talk about those such things; you can't talk about the current state of Hungary because all that matters to you are the pictures and messages you scan through in your mobile phone. You have relationships through your mask—pathetic.

You tear up my work as soon as you can without knowing what it says, what it's about, and why I write such things. You call me stupid, but you wear your corona virus protective gear without even knowing that none of what you have on makes any health sense whatsoever—in fact, what you're wearing is unhealthy by any measure—and you don't care. You take your "must-do" vaccines because you hear Győrfi Pál and the other clowns say it's the only way, and you don't even know what the vaccination is, what it isn't, and how it works—but I can emphatically tell you that the definition of a vaccine is a POISON! And you don't care. I'm the stupid guy, and you're the smart one; you're the one with a heritage that is rather horrifying in any regard—and you don't care—you project your self-worth onto me—it's me, you say!

The Nazis and the Communists did and do what they do in the name health at any cost also, and the doctors and nurses lined up in droves, perhaps because they thought they were participating in the new-wave health initiatives, or perhaps simply for power, who knows?

Well, killing people openly through an openly hostile and visible enemy is much bloodier and much more obviously diabolical than killing people with an invisible enemy with invisible means (i.e. closing down smiles and businesses and borders in the name of health—which only incurs a stronger oligarchy and people more dependent).

As for Hungarians, after starting two world wars and expecting absolutely no repercussions for losing both opportunities, but getting some anyhow, they've managed to hire Orbán Viktor, who promised annexation by indoctrination from Hungarians within pre-Trionon borders, which hasn't turned out well for Hungarians in Hungary.

Their current state of indoctrination, intimidation, and surveillance have been adapted to the politics of the day and the moods of the population of the day, but that continued drive for Hungarian dominance on the world stage has only ensured that Hungarian slave owners (which include not only the Hungarian oligarchs, but the Chinese, the Russian, the Turk, the European Union, the Arab and Israeli oligarchs) a more aggressively insatiable appetite than ever.
