

The (Blunt) Truth About Vaccines

The politicians are put there to give you the idea that you have freedom of choice. You don't. You have no choice. You have owners. They own you. They own everything.

We have been indoctrinated, as you've pointed out earlier, that if someone's wearing that white coat that we are supposed to just blindly accept everything, you know, just take the pills, the medication, the shots, whatever, you know, and not even think twice about it.

There are a couple of things I want to say about that. These vaccines have never proven to be safe—EVER. They've never been tested against a true placebo. When we say safe and effective, the general population of people who hear the word effective equates that to mean it keeps you from getting sick. But I can tell you that being effective just means you get an antibody, a marker of contamination, and you can have very high antibody levels and still get sick. So, I want people to know that effective is not a synonym for protection, it's just not. And kids, a lot of times when people are older, they go, Aah, what's the big deal about vaccines? Like my age or older, you know? And, you know, I don't remember kids getting that many vaccines. That's right, they didn't. Up through 1985 there were only 3. And now, depending on how you count them, children get multiple doses of 17 vaccines and 72 doses of vaccines by the time they graduate from high school, which has never been tested for synergistic toxicity, never been tested for carcinogenicity, whether they create cancer or not, never been tested to see if they cause mutagenicity, which is transformation of their genes, never been tested for teratogenicity, which means birth defects, and never tested for whether or not any of them can cause infertility somewhere down the road.

You don't have to pay for insurance. You don't have to ... There's no incentive to make a safer, better product. None! Why? If it kills a few people, who cares? It's the cost of doing business. You know? And now with all of the aluminum, they're now getting upwards to ... if they get fully vaccinated, they're getting upwards of around 12,000 micrograms of aluminum that are injected. And all of the little boys now that are getting Gardasil, all of those 500 micrograms of aluminum in each one of those shots. And we're now seeing that the infertility rates are going up in little boys; the sperm counts are dropping. And some of them have aluminum that is so high that they, like, have zero sperm count.

And so, we're seeing, you know this whole global depopulation agenda. I believe it's alive and well. Not only from what ... what Bill Gates even said in his Ted Talk (Innovating to zero! | Bill Gates), right? We can only expect that he could do so much, so we've got to do it on a bigger level and vaccinate the entire world with an experimental vaccine that's never been done before. We have no idea of what's going to be coming through that needle. And people are getting ... they're going to run to the vaccine because they're being psychologically conditioned, that it's coming, it's coming, it's coming. And even people, excuse me, that I think are probably staunchly against it, in fact it was in one of the articles I was reading this morning, saying, "That Covid-19 is going to be the upending of the anti-vaccine because people want to get their lives back, they want to go back to work, they want to travel, so they're going to say, OK, I'll get just this one.

And, I think it's the biggest scam ever perpetrated on the human race. I mean, that you are going to put your children on the sacrificial table of another human being standing there in a white coat and allow them to skewer your kids, stab them, inject foreign matter that could kill them in the name of health. I mean, wow.

If there's no virus that's been proven to cause disease, then what would a vaccine be protecting us from? It certainly wouldn't be from a virus. So, right there, just based on that, I could tell you that vaccines couldn't possibly work in the way that they are claimed to work. But, I've gone much farther than that, I've looked at all of the epidemiological evidence, which is, collecting information about, you know, how many cases this disease or that disease occur from year to year, and while there are some errors in that reporting, you could still easily follow the trends. And what you'll see is that for all of the illnesses that are claimed to be, you know, disappeared by a vaccine, actually, they disappeared before the vaccine was even available. And there has been some kind of trickery that's been played upon us to believe that the vaccine was responsible for it. But there are so many examples for this and the data just comes from the government agencies, just like all the other information that I've been reporting on.

Long before vaccines came around we had already solved 98% of infectious diseases through sanitation and eliminating child labor and vitamin A and nutrition. So this entire thing is just complete bullshit that's been created.

No randomized placebo controlled trials for vaccines and that is the gold standard for therapeutic to be approved by the FDA, and they have basically exempted that completely for vaccines. So, to get a vaccine approved, all you have to do is inject it and show that someone makes an antibody, which, I've already explained, is very non-specific and doesn't really tell you anything about immunity. So, they've been exempted from product liability, they've been exempted from randomized controlled trials, and they've been exempted from essentially any evidence to prove that these things actually do what they say they do. So, once again, they must be for a completely different purpose.

Now, if we skip ahead to talk about the vaccines that are being developed for COVID-19, these are not the same technology as the prior vaccine, and I think it's quite astonishing that some of these companies, like INOVIO, have claimed to develop a new vaccine within hours. OK, of being given this fake genetic sequence for the virus, and what they're doing is, is they're basically wanting to inject genes into us and they are using this procedure called electroporation, where they apply an electric current through two extra needles with a vaccine that create little wholes in our cells that allow the DNA to go inside our own cells, and then they are supposed to then make foreign proteins that supposedly generate immunity. But all I can describe this as is they want to make us into genetically modified organisms, because this is the exact same procedure that they would be using to make any other genetically modified organism. And I don't know what property they would like us, to confer to us—I have some suspicions. Like I think infertility is a major goal of this program, and that's been articulated pretty clearly by Bill Gates on several occasions. But, yea, they want to make us genetically modified organisms, and that is the purpose in my opinion of this vaccine program.

I was in Paris studying at the Sorbonne, Pasteur's material (Louis Pasteur invented the first vaccine [smallpox]). I had to have somebody help me because I don't do well in French. And, it was all written in French, of course. And not one of the animals he ever vaccinated lived. Really? Not one ever lived. They all died of anafilactic shock or severe flus. That's shocking.

And so, I would never let my kid get a vaccine of any type whatsoever. Absolutely! They're all poison. And there's no record that they ever prevent anything. So there's no real foundation for the ... that they support these vaccines do anything. Correct!

Now, how could you say that you're likely to get some kind of disease and [if] you take this, you're going to prevent it, when many people who get the vaccine actually get the disease? There's a contact tracing apparatus to it, which makes no sense, other than surveillance and control.

Yea, well, I definitely knew that there was going to be these kinds of biometrics surveillance technologies coming. I didn't necessarily see it paired with a vaccine, but, you know, I wanted to bring up that there's a very special situation for vaccine manufacturers and this is created by a Federal law that basically allows them to have zero product liability for the vaccines. So, in other words, normally, with any product that use manufacturer, right? If it causes harm to an individual, right? An injury or death for any reason, then you can be sued in a court and held liable and have to demonstrate that your product is safe. With vaccines, that has—in the United States, anyway, you cannot sue a vaccine company if you get harmed by their vaccine product. Instead, the government has set up a special, secret court that's sealed, and has a limited budget—and it's paid out billions of dollars already. But most people don't even know about it.

So, essentially the government, meaning, we the tax payers, are assuming all the liability for the vaccine manufacturer. So, this is really important, not necessarily, for the financial reason, as we're pointing out, because these companies are so wealthy already, but what it does is it gives them full carte blanche to put anything harmful in a vaccine that they want and then they would have no responsibility whatsoever for it. And, even though this law's already on the books, they actually had a special law for the COVID-19 vaccine. And the reason for that is partly because it's really going to be considered an experimental vaccine. In other words, it will not have enough evidence to get full approval and it will be given under emergency or some kind of experimental conditions. And this is why the time lines keep getting shorter.

You know, normally it takes years to develop the vaccine and then years to test it. And you heard President Trump saying that it's going to be 12 months. I think that's the shortest I've heard anyone predict, and lots of people were saying 18 months. But that's way too little time to fully develop and fully test a new therapeutic agent. So, I think people are going to be getting an experimental vaccine, and you know, I totally agree—this is a stuff of nightmares.
